Blessed Alojzije (Aloysius) Stepinac Feast Day February 10

BLESSED ALOYSIUS STEPINAC QUOTE:

"When they take everything from you, you'll be left with two hands; put them together in prayer and then you'll be the strongest." Blessed Aloysius Stepinac (1898 – 1960)

FIRST PRESIDENT OF CROATIA DR FRANJO TUDJMAN QUOTE:

"They could not, nor will they ever be able to kill our passion and our need to live in human dignity, in peace with ourselves and with the free nations of Europe. We have carved out that right at our first democratic elections. For this right and for our sacred land we are even ready to die" – Dr Franjo Tudjman

Croatians Remember Sir Robert Menzies And Bleiburg Massacre

May 15, 2014 by inavukic 33 Comments

Sir Robert Gordon (Bob) Menzies of Australia

"According to British documents, located in the British Public Records Office at Kew Gardens in London, over 500,000 Croatian civilians and 200,000 soldiers were handed over to Tito's Yugoslav Partisan Army in May of 1945. Based on eyewitness testimony and independent documentation, we can only estimate that the vast majority were slaughtered. The Bleiburg Tragedy is, perhaps, the best kept secret of man's inhumanity to man. Certainly, it serves as an example of man's ability to ignore the suffering of the powerless and those who lack nation-state status. Let us pray that Croats always cherish their independence and always fight those that attempt to subjugate them," Michael Palaich.

May 15th 2014 marks 69 years since the days after WWII ended hundreds of thousands of innocent Croats (disarmed soldiers, civilians including women and children, fleeing communist Yugoslavia into promised freedom in the West found themselves slaughtered over the ensuing two months by Tito's communists; the field at Bleiburg in Austria marks the central point where the slaughters began as the fleeing refugees were turned by the British forces into Yugoslavia, into the vicious and murderous hands of the communists, who dare to call themselves antifascists, under the pretence of forced repatriation.

May 15th 2014 marks 36 years since the death of Australia's former Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies. On 19 May 1978 some 100,000 Australians turned out in the Melbourne CBD and in the suburbs to pay tribute to Menzies, after he died at age of 83. This very fact provides an indication of the respect with which many held him and among them were multitudes of Croatian immigrants in Australia

Sara Škoda: Interview ...

HRVATSKE POVIJESN...

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=L3sGFpARUgcCroatian Historical Truths - The Case of Croatian Six and how communist Yugoslavia's Secret Services systematically blackened patriotic Croats in Australia during the Cold War years

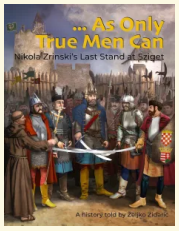
PODCAST VELEBIT - ...

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Lx9vfr64Xw0New political awakening in Croatia coming!

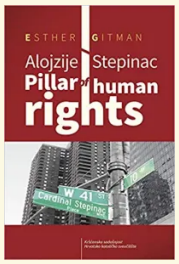
(1922-1999) (Addressing the Croatian nation at the moment of the start of Serbian aggression against Croatia, 16 October 1991)

LINKS TO BOOKS

AO ONLY TRUE MEN CAN: NIKOLA ZRINSKI'S LAST STAND AT SZIGET BY ZELJKO ZIDARIC



ALOJZIJE STEPINAC: PILLAR OF HUMAN RIGHTS BY ESTHER GITMAN



BLANKA MATKOVIC ON COMMUNIST CRIMES – AMAZON, BOOK DEPOSITORY, BOOKTOPIA, BARNES AND NOBLE. BOOKS A MILLION ...

BLANKA MATKOVIĆ
CROATIA AND SLOVENIA AT THE END AND AFTER THE SECOND WORLD WAR (1944-1945)
MASS CRIMES AND HUMAN RIGHTS VIOLATIONS COMMITTED BY THE COMMUNIST REGIME
ZUM GEDENKEN AN DIE GEFALLENEN KROATEN MAI 1945

who had fled communist Yugoslavia, thus surviving the vicious and merciless communist purges.

While in May of every year Croats commemorate the 1945 Bleiburg Massacres, not only to pay respects to the victims but also to keep the candle of hope alight for justice, for the prosecution of communist crimes, Australian Croats in their many numbers also remember in gratitude the life of Sir Robert Menzies – their Prime Minister who stood by their rights to keep the flame and the dream of independent Croatia alive.
Robert Gordon "Bob" Menzies is the longest-serving Prime Minister in Australian history. Menzies was Prime Minister twice, first from 1939 to 1941, and then from 1949 through to 1966, for a grand total of 18 years and five months in the top job. Menzies was at the centre of many significant events in this period of Australian history, which shaped the modern nation and the Australian Liberal Party.

Menzies was strongly opposed to communism because it enshrined what Ronald Reagan was later to term the evil empire. The prisoners in the various communist gulags, hard labour camps, purges under political opponents banner ... well understood this—as did the descendants of the victims of Lenin, Stalin, Tito, Mao ...

Amidst a plethora of false allegations of Croat violence in Australia – without doubt the work of communist Yugoslavia Secret Police UDBA – Menzies found it necessary to deliver an historic speech in the Parliament of Australia when in 1964 the authorities found no evidence whatsoever to support allegations of Croat Ustashe violence towards individuals of Yugoslav nationality from which systematic or organised attacks could be inferred. Menzies' resolve in protecting the rights of Croatian immigrants in Australia to cherish the very dream of an independent Croatia was a resolve not of a hater of communism but that of a politician who lived for the people, their rights and welfare.

In fond memory of Menzies, I quote a part of his speech in the Australian Parliament on 27 August 1964:

"...In the years since World War II, Australia's immigration programme has brought to this country people from all parts of Europe with a diversity of historical and cultural backgrounds. Many of these people were refugees from oppression. Many derived from happier circumstances. This flow of new citizens has played an important part in building the nation. It is something, which has given us great satisfaction and we wish to see it continue. However, it is basic to our immigration policy that all these new citizens should be integrated as fully, and as quickly, as possible into Australia's national life...

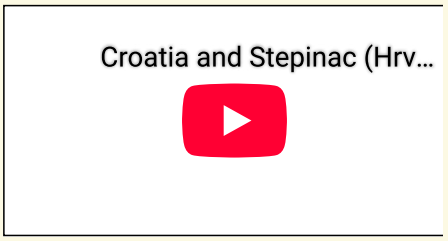
I turn now to the matter of immigration from Yugoslavia. To understand the attitudes of these migrants it is necessary to remind ourselves that this part of Europe has an exceedingly complex and troubled history. Yugoslavia emerged from the political settlements of World War I. It brought together as a union a number of southern Slav peoples including Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, under the Serbian King Alexander. The Serbs obtained their independence from the Ottoman Empire during the nineteenth century and were numerically the largest group in the new State. The Croats had formerly enjoyed a degree of autonomy within the Austro-Hungarian

COLOUR ME CROATIAN COLOURING IN BOOK – A PERFECT GIFT

The place where you can get your: Colour Me Croatian https://colourmecroatian.com

ROLE OF CROATIAN DIASPORA – INA VUKIC ON LAUDATO TV JULY 2019 – CLICK IMAGE TO LINK TO YOUTUBE VIDEO

CROATIA AND BLESSED ALOJZIJE STEPINAC (VIDEO IN ENGLISH)



POPE JOHN PAUL II DECLARES ALOJZIJE STEPINAC BLESSED

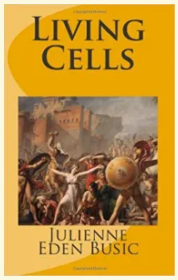
LOOK IN ARCHIVE HERE

Select Month

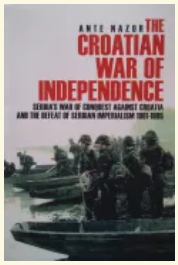
NAVIGATE WITH TAGS

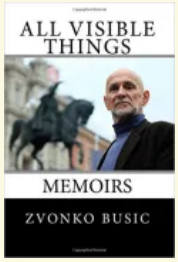
Aleksandar Vucic Alojzije Stepinac Aloysius Stepinac Andrej PLenkovic Andrej Plenković Ante Gotovina antifascists Bleiburg Bleiburg massacres

LIVING CELLS – JULIENNE EDEN BUSIC – ON AMAZON

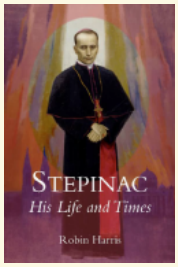


ON AMAZON & CREATESPACE





BUY BOOK



empire and retained a national identity dating back as early as the ninth century. Deep differences of religious, cultural and historical kinds have existed between the groups despite kindred racial origins.

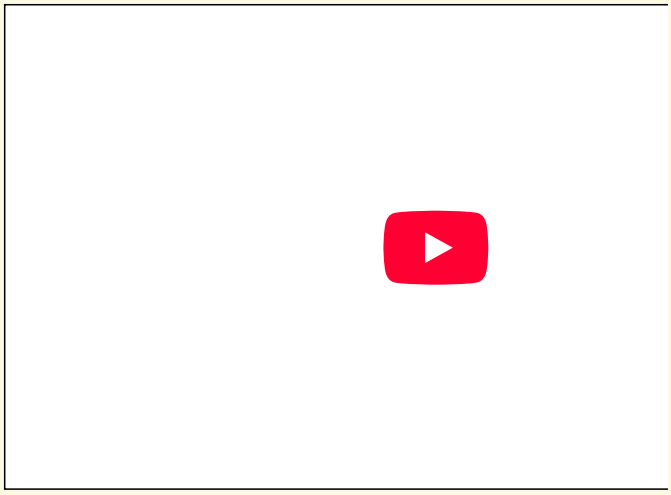
Within the new State, the Croats sought a federal concept of government with a large degree of local autonomy. In 1928, the leader of the Croats, Stjepan Radic of the Croatian Peasant Party and two of his colleagues were assassinated in the Parliament in Belgrade (Serbia). This precipitated a profound breach between Serbs and Croats. The Croats developed strong agitation in support of independence. Peasant Party leaders taking their cause to the League of Nations. Some Croat Parliamentary representatives were arrested, others, among them Dr. Ante Pavelic, went into exile...

It is difficult for people coming to Australia easily to forget their historical backgrounds. Since the war a number of organisations opposed to the present Government of Yugoslavia have developed throughout the world amongst refugees and migrants from that country. It is understandable that some Yugoslav migrants of Croatian origin should continue to hope for the establishment of an independent Croatia and within a democracy like Australia they have right to advocate their views so long as they do so by legitimate means. I wish to make it perfectly clear that the vast majority of the migrants from all parts of Yugoslavia who have settled in Australia have proved to be law abiding, hard working citizens and a real asset to this country...

...So I make the Government's position quite clear: This Government will not interfere with freedom of opinion. Equally, it will not tolerate any activities, which constitute a breach of the law."

On this day in May we remember the innocent victims of communist crimes and we remember Sir Robert Menzies. Croatia today, perhaps more than ever before, needs politicians of Menzies' caliber – politicians who know how to bring justice to the victims of communist crimes and fight against the communist agenda that still seeks to degrade and destroy the independence Croats paid for in rivers of blood. Ina Vukic, Prof. (Zgb); B.A., M.A.Ps. (Syd)

BLEIBURG TRAGEDY – DOCUMENTARY BY MICHAEL PALAICH:



Bosnia and Herzegovina Communism communist crimes Communists Communist Yugoslavia corruption corruption in Croatia Croatia Croatian Democratic Union Croatian diaspora Croatian Homeland War Croatian independence Croatian Six Croatian war of independence decommunisation democracy Efraim Zuroff Esther Gitman ethnic cleansing EU European Union former Yugoslavia Franjo Tudjman genocide Greater Serbia HDZ Holocaust ICTY Ina Vukic Independent State of Croatia International Criminal Tribunal for Former Yugoslavia International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia Ivo Josipovic Jasenovac joint criminal enterprise Josip Broz Tito Kolinda Grabar-Kitarovic Luka Misetic lustration Milorad Pupovac Mladen Markac Operation Storm Radovan Karadzic reconciliation SDP Serb aggression Serbia Slobodan Milosevic Social Democratic Party Srebrenica Stjepan Mesic Tihomir Oreskovic Tomislav Karamarko transitioning from communism transitioning from communism to democracy UDBA Ustashe Vesna Pusic Vukovar war crimes World War II Yugoslavia Za Dom Spremni Zeljko Glasnovic Zlatko Hasanbegovic Zoran Milanovic

TRANSLATE INTO YOUR LANGUAGE

TRANSLATION

HRVATSKO BRATSTVO
sinjanin.org

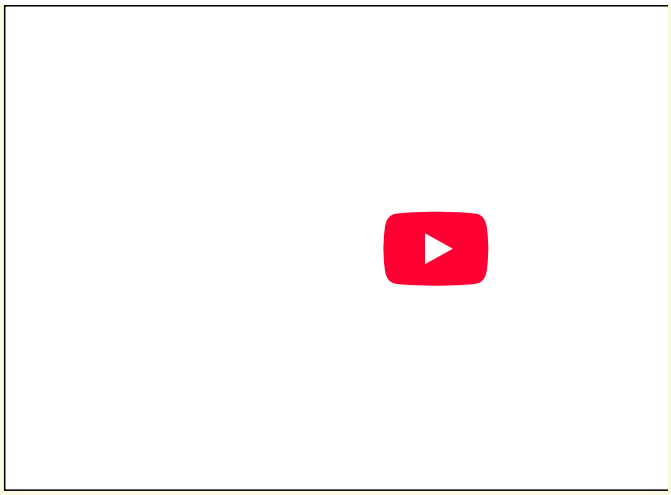
NOGOMETNI KLUB
MARJAN
ZUG
N.K. MARJAN ZUG 1973

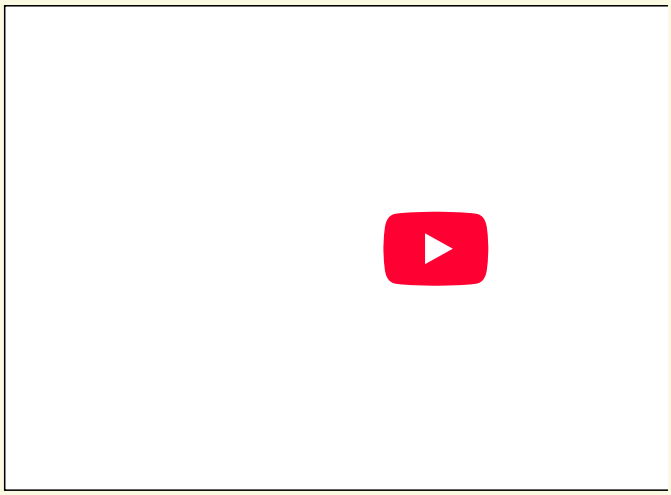
DAILY WORLD NEWS @ ACE

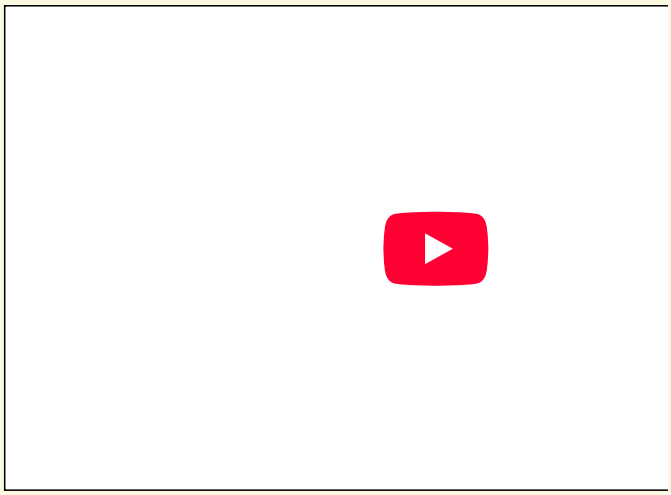
SPAM BLOCKED

7,155 spam blocked by Akismet

pdf Public document







DOMOVINA

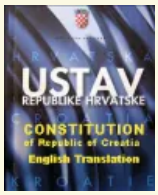
FeniX magazin
Najčitaniji hrvatski portal izvan domovine

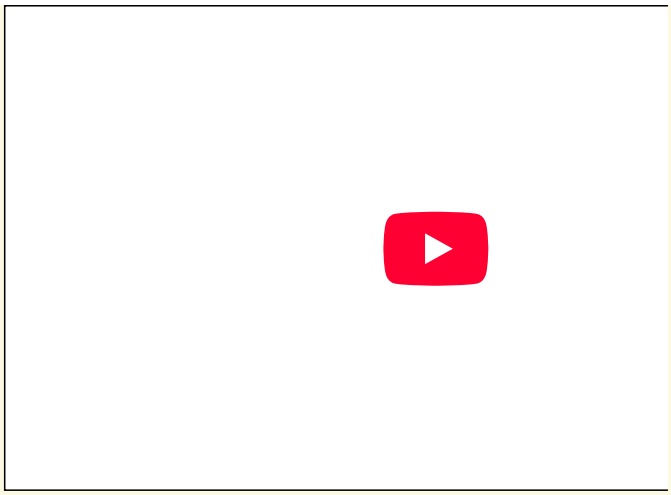
HRsvijet.net
Hrvatski informativni portal

CroExpress
Check Out Our Friend Club And Join
Klub Naših Prijatelja - Pridružite Se

Hrvatski VJESNIK
The Croatian Herald

THE GOOD CONQUERED IN THE END: CROATIAN GENERALS ACQUITTED





Related post:

http://inavukic.com/2012/04/20/bleiburg-massacres-the-shame-of-the-british-army-and-yugoslav-communists/

You may also like:

shareaholic

Croatia: Tito's Bloodthirsty Unpunished Genocide

On 8 May 1945 Neither Patriotic Zagreb nor Patriotic Croatia Were LIberated – They Were Either Massacred or Taken To Communist Prison
Lest We Forget!

On 8 May 1945 Neither Patriotic Zagreb nor Patriotic Croatia Were LIberated - They Were Either Massacred or Taken To Communist Prison

Bleiburg Massacres of Croatians - Lest We Forget

Bleiburg Massacre and Croatian Victims of Communist Regime - An Interview With Dr Josip Stjepandic

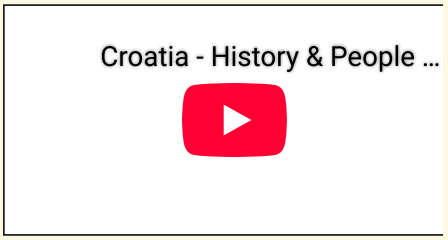
Croatia: Bleiburg Massacres Victims Still Hostages Of

Zvonimir Gavranovic - Bleiburg: Massacre of the

ROY GUTMAN ON MASSIVE SYSTEMATIC WAR CRIMES BY SERBS IN CROATIA – OCTOBER 1991

CROATIA: HISTORY & PEOPLE I

CROATIA: HISTORY & PEOPLE II



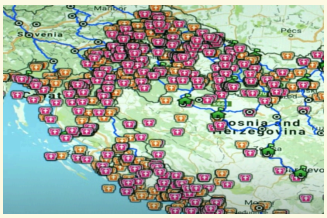
RECENT POSTS

- Remains of 12 More People Missing from the Croatian Homeland War Identified
- Was It Terrorism or Was It Not, Was There Police Corruption or Was There Not
- Presidential Inauguration 2025 and Cruel Torture of Croatian Patriotism –
- Croatians of Australia Fundraise for Film on Croatian Orthodox Church (HPC)
- NIKOLA KNEZ – CROATIAN FILM INSTITUTE'S NEW "COMMUNIST CRIMES" FILM

Communist Ideology

Croatian People 1945

Remembering the Bleiburg Massacres and Communist Yugoslavia Crimes Against Croatian Patriots



Bleiburg Massacres of Croats: Tito - A Licence For Genocide

Filed Under: Uncategorized Tagged With: Bleiburg Massacre, communist crimes, Croatia, Croats, forced repatriation, Josip Broz Tito, Michael Palaich, Robert Menzies, Ronald Reagan, Worl War II

« Croatia: Fascist Antifascists Form a League

The Dominican Monastery »

Comments

CROATIAN CENTER of RENEWABLE ENERGY SOURCES says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:39 am

Postoje teme koje nije poželjno otvarati kako se ne bi dovela u pitanje unificirana povijesna istina, desetljećima krojena u komitetima i na visokim partijskim školama. Istina, koju i danas u javnom životu RH proklamiraju polaznici tih istih partijskih škola, komitetskih redakcija i partijskih ćelija sa sveučilišta. Sramotni muk, muk koji se širi iz grobnica razasutih svud oko nas polako prekriva cijelu Hrvatsku pretvarajući je u jednu veliku masovnu grobnicu. Zlokobna tišina, neosjetljivost i nezainteresiranost, pretvaraju nas u suučesnike zločina, ako ne u to, onda svakako u kreatore zaborava. RIP — in Bleiburg, Austria.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:29 pm

Translation of comment by CROATIAN CENTER of RENEWABLE ENERGY SOURCES: It's not desirable to open up some topics so that a unified historic truth moulded in committees and high Party schools would not be brought into question. The truth proclaimed even today in public life in Croatia by those who attended the same Party schools, committee editorials and Party cells from Universities. The shameful deathlike silence, silence that spreads from the graves all around us is slowly covering the whole of Croatia, turning it into a large massive tomb. The sinister silence, insensitivity and disinterest, are turning us into accessories of crimes, if not into that then certainly into creators of forgetfulness. RIP – in Bleburg, Austria.

★ Loading...

Faith Under Fire – Croatia's Blessed Alojzije Stepinac, Valiant Pastor, Example of Christian Fortitude

REVITALISATION OF CROATIAN DEMOGRAPHICS AND THE ECONOMY: THE RETURN OF THE BUSINESS DIASPORA

The Croatian Nation Remains Politically and Culturally Colonized

Dismal 31.8% Representation To Inaugurate Zoran Milanovic As President of Croatia

Croatia – Presidential Elections Round Two – Voting is Imperative

SUBSCRIBE

RSS - Posts

FOLLOW BLOG VIA EMAIL

Enter your email address to follow this blog and receive notifications of new posts by email.

Email Address

Follow

ON FACEBOOK

Click Picture for Timeline: Croatia 1900 - 2012

i'm listed on bloggingportal.eu

WELCOME!

Welcome to my blog. Here I will bring to you a variety of topics covering the documented truth about that terrible war that Croatia had to endure during the

Reply

alija derzelez says:
May 16, 2014 at 1:44 pm

Brankec,what I'm really trying to tell is very simple,I live in Split and am familiar with things in this country,politically I'm in the centar so I could go for ustasa,partisan or something else.The biggest gift to Komunjare is HDZ and Diaspora and they will be politically around for long time,the stupidest two politicians today in this country are Karamarko and Tomasic on the other hand you have no an idea how Mesic,Josipovic and Milanovic got on the top.Ruza represents diaspora and your point of view and has no idea on who Ante Starcevic is.If you ever come home and make a run for the office you will be labeled Ustasa and not by komunjare but by HDZ,its there game my friend,there is too much hate here thanks to HDZ and there labeling game.

★ Loading...

inavukic says:
May 16, 2014 at 11:30 pm

Alija Derzelez – Tomasic does not represent the diaspora, so keep to facts please

★ Loading...

brankec says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:54 am

Why are "antifascists" so aggressive and so adamant to tie NOB to the Homeland War? The answer lies in this article. It is out of desperation to inject legitimacy into a largely illegitimate movement. Proof is that while the rest of the free world hasn't exactly condemned "antifascist" atrocities under Tito, they haven't exactly rushed to conjoin legitimate European antifascism with Tito's genocidal operation that can only be referred to encased in quotation marks.

All one needs to do is to ask himself what exactly did Tito's "antifascists" achieve by establishing communism as the one and only political structure in YU while other nations on the 'winning' side got to develop democratically. Also, why were Croatians and their families threatened with jail, loss of income, mock trials or worse if they revealed various truths about anything to do with YU criminal activity? Why create an artificial language that nobody speaks and call it serbo-croatian unless your ultimate plan is to eliminate Croatian culture, read: cultural genocide. Why, even today, are boogeymen in black attire adorned with helvetica U's being created to concoct an imaginary enemy in order to give the "antifascists" what amounts to contrived legitimacy? Why do those "antifascists" consider the Croatian diaspora, who has established itself as law-abiding, hard-working, model citizens, a threat or even a potential enemy? Rhetorical questions, yes, but you really need to ask yourself why.

period between 1991 and 1995 and about Croatian political history that shaped a wonderful nation of people.

Croatian people wanted independence for centuries, just as they had it until the twelfth century but fate was not on their side – others wanted their beautiful land. In late 1980's the will to break free from Yugoslavia which suffocated freedom and self determination through harsh communist party rule finally bore the desired fruit.

In June 1991 Croatia declared its independence; soon after the aggressive war against Croatia broke out. The struggle of the Croatian people for self-determination was a just one. But I fear genuine justice has not been served as there have been, and there still exist, international covert and overt moves to equate victims with aggressors continue in attempts to change history. Truth often becomes obscured and lost and that is why I have chosen to write this blog, to concentrate on actual events and issues about Croatia – wishing it a bright and freedom-loving future.

It certainly was not easy to come out of the war that was fought on two fronts:

1. On the military front the world's public has seen the indiscriminate bombardment of Croatian cities, towns and villages from land, sea and air; the destruction of civilian targets including homes, schools, hospitals, churches, factories and cultural monuments; the blockading and destruction of roads, bridges and ports; the blockading of power, water, food and medical supplies. What hasn't been shown on our television sets is the forced clearing and evacuation of towns and villages, followed by looting, torture, rape and murder carried out by the Serbian forces, who were initially backed by the federal Yugoslav army that was largely constituted by Serb nationals; the transportation of multiple hundreds of innocent Croatian civilians from Croatia into concentration camps Serbia (Begejci, Stajicevo, Sremska Mitrovica... from October 1991, and later (1992) transferred into Serb-held camps in Bosnia and Herzegovina (Omarska, Keratern, Manjaca, Trnopolje).

2. The second front was the war of political propaganda centred on: misinformation about the rights of minorities in Croatia; portrayal of the Croatian people as Ustasha or Fascists; the representation of the Croatian defence

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:34 pm

The way communism evolved after WWII, Brankec, speaks volumes of its pretense to be like “Allies” but in effect its agenda was totally different – oppression and murderous control without accountability to humanity.

★ Loading...

Reply

alija derzelez says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:52 pm

Brankec,could be because you keep a pic of ... DELETED – no facts provided as required by comment policy

★ Loading...

Reply

brankec says:
May 16, 2014 at 9:55 am

Alija, I’m pretty sure I know what you were getting at before a certain (assumably deceased) person’s identity was deleted due to site policy, and let me just say that not only are you wrong about “the pic”, but also you’ve effectively illustrated how yugofascism could possibly have functioned for 45 years. How? Discredit your opponent with nebulous accusations, coercively tie him/her in with dubious individuals, concoct events that never happened, then point him/her out to a kangaroo court and let the oppresive institutions do the rest – it’s all in the yugofascist playbook. But times are different, Alija.Croatia is free, thanks to hundreds of thousands of brave men and women, particularly those who risked and lost their lives, who never gave up hope through all those years of yugofascist brutality, so that both you and I can voice our opinions clearly and openly and let others judge whose arguments make more sense. You, Alija, just need to learn to play by the rules. Bog i Hrvati.

★ Loading...

IVAN OROZ says:
May 15, 2014 at 11:12 am

A što nam to sada vrijedi kada se samo slušaju antifašisti,i samo oni znaju istinu.Mi koji još uvijek tražimo kosti svojih očeva moramo šutjeti.

★ Loading...

Reply

forces as illegal paramilitary units; the representation of the Croatian and Slovenian republics as unreasonable secessionists who are unwilling to negotiate; a regurgitation of distorted facts about World War II.

Indeed Croatia had an absolute right to defend itself and this is often forgotten if not often denied it.

INA VUKIC

Ina has been a tireless volunteer on humanitarian aid and fundraising for victims of war in Croatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, especially war orphans. From1991 to beginning of 1994 she contributed in lobbying for international recognition of Croatian independence and Croatia’s rights in defending its territory and people from military aggression by Serbian forces. For this dedicated voluntary work Ina was awarded two Medals of Honour by the first president of the Republic of Croatia in 1995 (Commemorative Medal of the Homeland War and Order of the Croatian Trefoil).Ina has also written hundreds articles for newspapers in Australia and Croatia on the plight of Croatian people for freedom and self-determination, developing democracy in former communist countries. She holds two graduate and one post-graduate university degrees, specialising in behaviour, clinical and political psychology and management.

TWEETS

Tweets by IVukic

Interview with Ina Vukic by Sara Skoda, Croatians Online, New York, July 2024
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qTRMZhgfpFo

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:36 pm

Translation of comment by IVAN OROZ: What use is it to us now when we're only listening to antifascists, and only they know the truth. We, who are still searching for the bones of our fathers have to remain quiet.

★ Loading...

Reply

yeseventhistoowillpass says:
May 15, 2014 at 12:17 pm

Wow I had no clue this happened. I liked the video. That old guy who said, "An order is an order. You just do it." I wish those memorial markers in the beginning had been translated into English... Peace

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:38 pm

Thank you yeseventhistoowillpass – the truth must come out and be dealt with let's trust in that no matter what.

★ Loading...

Reply

Jackie Saulmon Ramirez says:
May 15, 2014 at 2:07 pm

Sometimes justice never comes. ☹ The interviews are powerful.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:40 pm

Thank you Jackie, yes perhaps in our lifetime justice will not come but if we keep the light on long enough our children or grandchildren will see to justice. That, I think is inherent to human nature.

★ Loading...

Reply

Nikola says:
May 15, 2014 at 2:36 pm

I always wandered why does Australia allows Cetnicks to parade at Anzac day, yet they are the ones who attacked Croatia and killed heaps of innocent people, shame on Australia for that!

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 15, 2014 at 10:46 pm

I too have always wondered and are enraged at that, Nikola. I think the underlying reason is in Serbia's monarchy being related to the British...

★ Loading...

Reply

Zezevice says:
May 16, 2014 at 1:27 pm

Ina, I understand why the Serbs march on ANZAC day for they were allied to the British Empire during WW1 but at this years ANZAC day march there banner read Chetnik forces 1914-1918 and 1941 -1945. So basically the RSL allowed them to march with descendants who fought for murderers like Nedic, Pecanac, Ljotic, Dujic etc. I think the RSL should be alerted of this.

★ Loading...

inavukic says:
May 16, 2014 at 11:33 pm

Yes, Zezevice, RSL should be supplied with facts regarding the Chetniks indeed

★ Loading...

Kat says:
May 16, 2014 at 7:06 am

Hoping that one day, victims can truly rest in peace knowing that justice has been served. Until then, we must keep speaking out against all lies and denials of these crimes.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 16, 2014 at 7:17 am

In there with you. Kat!

★ Loading...

Reply

Kev says:
May 16, 2014 at 7:30 pm

I watched the videos in full and I think, I would rather have been court martialed, but I cannot judge for I wasn't there...you could tell they were very ashamed of following the orders to lie to and load up the people that this has haunted the British soldiers and will continue to do so. Like the one guy mention...it was a bloody political shameful business and that doesn't rectify or minimise what went on in anyway...I hope we have come a long way since then. I truly do

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 16, 2014 at 10:21 pm

Terrible business, it was, Kev, just as the war ended. Let's hope that the 2009 EU declaration of condemning totalitarian regimes will end up giving stronger wings to prosecution/condemnation of Yugoslav/Croatian communist crimes perpetrated after WWII. Thank you on comment

★ Loading...

Reply

Kev says:
May 18, 2014 at 7:18 pm

Yes, we should all hope for that. It will help prevent such things from happening again, not only for Croatia, but for any country. I do hope we have grown beyond that by now.

★ Loading...

inavukic says:
May 18, 2014 at 11:59 pm

Cheers, Kev, thank you

★ Loading...

Jonathan Caswell says:
May 16, 2014 at 11:58 pm

Reblogged this on By the Mighty Mumford and commented:
LET US REMEMBER.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 17, 2014 at 5:57 am

Thank you so very much for the reblog, Jonathan – much appreciated

★ Loading...

Reply

First Night Design says:
May 14, 2015 at 3:23 pm

Reblogged this on First Night History.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 14, 2015 at 10:16 pm

Thank you for the reblog, Sarah 🙂

★ Loading...

Reply

laughtermedicineforthesoul says:
May 23, 2015 at 1:27 am

HEllo Dimasuki,
I just would like to thank you for taking the time to read and" "like"my humor post. I'm benefiting Great insight from your blog as well & looking forward to read your next post.
Take care.

★ Loading...

Reply

inavukic says:
May 23, 2015 at 1:39 am

So welcome, Nadege and thank you

★ Loading...

Reply

Frank Negric says:
January 9, 2020 at 12:35 am

I will never praise Menzies. Yes, he was anti-communist but it's all politician speak. Menzies disliked Catholics (though not as much as other members of the Liberal party of his era) and loved Britain and the monarchy and of course the British monarchy is related to the Serbian monarchy. He would throw us under a bus when he didn't need us anymore.

★ Loading...

Reply

Trackbacks

Check Out abcnewsradioonline.com says:
August 16, 2014 at 4:37 pm

Check Out abcnewsradioonline.com

Croatians Remember Sir Robert Menzies And Bleiburg Massacre – Croatia, the War, and the Future

★ Loading...

Reply

Vice president Biden says:
December 7, 2014 at 11:17 am

Vice president Biden

Croatians Remember Sir Robert Menzies And Bleiburg Massacre – Croatia, the War, and the Future

★ Loading...

Reply

Leave a Reply

THE GOSPEL OF JOHN, CH.8,V.32

"and you will know the truth, and the truth will make you free."

DISCLAIMER, TERMS AND CONDITIONS:

All content on “Croatia, the War, and the Future” blog is for informational purposes only. “Croatia, the War, and the Future” blog is not responsible for and expressly disclaims all liability for the interpretations and subsequent reactions of visitors or commenters either to this site or its associate Twitter account, @IVukic or its Facebook account. Comments on this website are the sole responsibility of their writers and the writer will take full responsibility, liability, and blame for any libel or litigation that results from something written in or as a direct result of something written in a comment. The nature of information provided on this website may be transitional and, therefore, accuracy, completeness, veracity, honesty, exactitude, factuality and politeness of comments are not guaranteed. This blog may contain hypertext links to other websites or webpages. “Croatia, the War, and the Future” does not control or guarantee the accuracy, relevance, timeliness or completeness of information on any other website or webpage. We do not endorse or accept any responsibility for any views expressed or products or services offered on outside sites, or the organisations sponsoring those sites, or the safety of linking to those sites. Comment Policy: Everyone is welcome and encouraged to voice their opinion regardless of identity, politics, ideology, religion or agreement with the subject in posts or other commentators. Personal or other criticism is acceptable as long as it is justified by facts, arguments or discussions of key issues. Comments that include profanity, offensive language and insults will be moderated.

RETURN TO TOP OF PAGE

POWERED BY WORDPRESS.COM.

Privacy Policy

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website www.inavukic.com Accept & Close